Summary

Panama will hold its third National Evacuation Drill on Monday 12 October starting at 10:00 a.m. at points across the country, including institutions and businesses; TVN reports on preparations in Veraguas.

Details (summary of the article)

TVN reports that the province of Veraguas is already preparing for the third National Evacuation Drill, to be held on 12 October from 10:00 a.m. at various points around the country. The exercise is nationwide and tests the ability of buildings, public institutions and private companies to evacuate by simulating real emergency situations such as earthquakes. Residents of Boquete and the rest of Chiriqui can expect schools, offices and businesses to take part at the same hour, so brief interruptions of normal activity and alarm sounds are possible. Participation is coordinated by civil protection authorities (SINAPROC), and organisations are encouraged to register and rehearse their evacuation routes and meeting points beforehand. Nothing in the report indicates road closures; the drill is expected to last a short time.
