Summary

After the 7.5 magnitude quake, the Caja de Seguro Social (CSS) is temporarily closing some facilities and adjusting services while buildings are inspected; La Prensa reports that the CSS agencies in Boquete and Santiago remain without service.

Details (summary of the article)

La Prensa reports that following preliminary structural inspections after Friday's magnitude 7.5 earthquake, the Caja de Seguro Social has temporarily closed several facilities to protect patients and staff while technical evaluations continue. Closed are the Presidente Remón Polyclinic in Panama City, the Los Pozos CAPPS in Herrera, the Tonosí ULAPS in Los Santos and the Dr. Roberto Ramírez de Diego Polyclinic in Chitré. In Herrera and Los Santos outpatient consultations are suspended Monday and Tuesday, with appointments to be rescheduled; emergency services continue. In Coclé, outpatient care is suspended Monday in Penonomé and Monday and Tuesday at the Aguadulce hospital. In Veraguas, the Santiago polyclinic and the Soná hospital offer partial service while inspections go on, and elective surgeries are suspended Monday and Tuesday in Colón and Chepo. CSS says its units in Chiriquí, Panama Metro, Panamá Oeste and Este, Bocas del Toro and Colón keep working normally, but the agencies in Santiago and Boquete are not attending the public. Patients affected will be contacted to reschedule.
