Summary

SINAPROC asks the public to stay calm, avoid rumours, follow earthquake safety protocols and report damaged structures, while it continues monitoring.

Details (summary of the article)

Panama, 9 October 2026. The National Civil Protection System (SINAPROC) urges the public to remain calm after the recent earthquake felt across much of the country. The institution is monitoring the situation and stresses acting calmly and responsibly and following safety recommendations. SINAPROC recommends: keep calm and avoid spreading rumours or unconfirmed information; follow the established safety protocols for earthquakes; stay away from structures with visible damage and report any risk to the authorities; keep informed through the official accounts of SINAPROC and the competent agencies. SINAPROC will remain vigilant and will communicate any relevant information through its official channels.
