The Ministry of Public Works (MOP) informs users and residents of the corregimientos of El Cañaveral and El Copé, Coclé province, that following technical evaluations after the earthquake of Friday 9 October and its aftershocks, heavy vehicle traffic will be restricted on the Bailey-type modular bridges over the Coclé del Sur river (road to Toro Bravo) and the San Antonio river (San Roquito). The measures take effect Wednesday 21 October 2026 and remain until further notice. Both bridges have a maximum weight limit of 5 tonnes. The Coclé del Sur bridge also has a height limit of 8 feet (2.44 m); coaster-type vehicles may pass if within the limits. The San Antonio bridge at San Roquito has no height restriction. Alternate routes to Toro Bravo: via El Potrero and the connection with La Pintada. Drivers are urged to respect signage and preventive measures.
