Summary

MIDES will make the fourth and final 2026 payment of 120 a los 65, Ángel Guardián and Red de Oportunidades by bank transfer 16–27 November, and 30 November–4 December in hard-to-reach areas; the PUNCH digital wallet will be phased in later.

Details (summary of the article)

Telemetro reports that beneficiaries of the MIDES social programs 120 a los 65, Ángel Guardián and Red de Oportunidades will receive their fourth and last payment of 2026 in two windows: bank transfers from 16 to 27 November 2026, and payments in hard-to-access areas from 30 November to 4 December 2026. Separately, Caja de Ahorros announced on 2 November that its PUNCH digital wallet and card will progressively be extended to these three programs. Caja de Ahorros general manager Andrés Farrugia said PUNCH is meant to speed state disbursements, promote banking access and improve tracking of public funds, and that beneficiaries can use the wallet free of charge. Through an alliance with Más Móvil Panamá, users will be able to check their PUNCH balance by phone even without mobile data. No start date or enrolment procedure for the three programs has yet been announced, so recipients should watch for official MIDES and Caja de Ahorros notices.
