Summary

The decomposed body of an unidentified woman, about 41, was found under a bridge near the Varital creek in David; SINAPROC recovered it in heavy rain and an autopsy will determine the cause of death.

Details (summary of the article)

According to Mi Diario, the body of a woman in an advanced state of decomposition was found in the David district of Chiriquí, near the Varital creek in an area close to telecommunications antennas. She was reportedly found apparently seated on a rock beneath a bridge structure. Investigators estimate she may have been dead about four days, though a forensic examination will refine that. Her identity is unknown; she is described as about 41 years old, wearing a long-sleeved sweater, long leggings and light blue sneakers, details that may help identification. SINAPROC rescuers assisted the Public Ministry in recovering the body during a heavy downpour, working from roughly 1:30 p.m. until after 4:30 p.m. on Monday, after which forensic staff from IMELCF carried out the removal procedures. Authorities are considering whether she could be someone reported missing, but there is no confirmation. An autopsy at the David judicial morgue was scheduled for Tuesday to establish whether the death was natural, accidental or violent.
