Summary

Telemetro reports that the city of David, Chiriquí, will go ahead with its November patriotic parades, unlike several districts that have cancelled theirs after the earthquake.

Full text (English)

Telemetro reports that patriotic parades will take place in David, Chiriquí, in November. This contrasts with several other municipalities around the country, including Tierras Altas in Chiriquí, that have suspended their 3 November parades following the 9 October earthquake and the state of emergency. No further detail on times or routes was given in the item.
