Summary

Panama's Ministry of Economy and Finance says delivery of CEPANIM certificates to widows and widowers of deceased beneficiaries will begin in November 2026, with no exact date yet; delivery in Chiriquí resumed on 13 October.

Details (summary of the article)

The Ministry of Economy and Finance (MEF) has announced that in November 2026 it will start handing CEPANIM certificates (negotiable payment certificates for late-payment interest) to the widows and widowers of beneficiaries who have died, as reported by Mi Diario. The certificates relate to deductions from the second instalment of the thirteenth month made between 1972 and 1983. Priority goes first to surviving spouses who registered as beneficiaries by July, then to common-law partners and finally to children. No exact date or appointment calendar for this stage has been published yet, so beneficiaries should watch for official announcements and meet the stated requirements. Meanwhile deliveries continue in several regions after October interruptions, having resumed on 13 October at Megápolis Outlets and AVESA and in Darién, Colón, Panamá Oeste, Chiriquí and Bocas del Toro. In Veraguas, Coclé, Los Santos and Herrera resumption depends on buildings being safe and available. Dates, requirements and locations are published at www.mef.gob.pa.
