Summary

SENAFRONT found a package of suspected cocaine in a teenager's backpack during a check at the San Isidro control post in Chiriquí, and separately arrested a man over an attempted killing of a 3-year-old girl.

Details (summary of the article)

Mi Diario reports two SENAFRONT operations. At the San Isidro integrated control post in Chiriquí, anti-narcotics units checking passengers found a rectangular package of a substance presumed to be cocaine in the backpack of a teenager; SENAFRONT's specialised child and adolescent unit took charge of the case before the competent authorities. In a separate action, intelligence units and special forces of the 3rd Brigade of Panamá Este arrested a man during a raid coordinated with the Homicide and Femicide Prosecutor's Office. He is linked to an attempted killing of a three-year-old girl on 22 October in the community of Higuera. Provisional detention was ordered. The girl is stable and recovering.
