Summary

At a 26 October working meeting in Los Santos, Government Minister Dinoska Montalvo and other ministers set out how central and local government will coordinate earthquake recovery in the central provinces.

Details (summary of the article)

SINAPROC reports that ministers met mayors and representatives in Los Santos on 26 October to coordinate the response to earthquake damage in the central provinces. Government Minister Dinoska Montalvo said response teams have reached even remote communities and that SINAPROC's work in the first 72 hours stabilised the situation, with the humanitarian aid phase closing successfully on 20 October without fatalities. After SINAPROC's initial risk tagging of buildings, the Housing Ministry (MIVIOT) and municipal engineering offices now take over the technical assessment of structural damage. Canal Affairs Minister José Ramón Icaza and MIVIOT Minister Jaime Jované briefed local authorities and answered their questions. Both said the cabinet's presence in Los Santos is an ongoing operational deployment rather than a one-off visit. The government pledged continued, coordinated support to affected residents through the recovery.
