Volcano Discovery listed a moderate, unconfirmed magnitude 4.9 earthquake on Wednesday 28 October 2026 at 2:35 p.m. Panama time. The report's location details are inconsistent: the headline places it in Colón province about 93 km west of Panama City, while the feed link refers to a quake felt near Volcán, Chiriquí. No damage or injuries were reported in the item. It follows the series of tremors since the 9 October earthquake. Residents who felt shaking may report it through official channels.
